She is fleeing to escape from her father, The Earl of Arkworth, a man who should cherish her very existence. The Earl is a vicious, drunken, bully and Emma suspects he is responsible for the death of her mother. Frightened for her safety and with her brother, Lord Vincent Alford, having already left the family home to follow a military commission, Emma is left to her own devices to devise a plan to escape her father's brutality. Emma runs away to a relative of her dear, departed mother, a Lady Millicent Fulham, and together they develop a strategy to ensure that Emma should remain safe in her Aunt's house. The plan appears to be working and Emma begins to feel safe and, upon a chance meeting, catches the eye of the bold, Duke of Brightwood. However, is Emma being lulled into a false sense of security?
