Coast To Coast Adventure Atlas

Synopsis

Devised by Alfred Wainwright, the Coast to Coast Walk is one of the most popular long distance footpaths in the UK. Starting at St. Bees in Cumbria, on the Irish Sea coast, the walk covers 290km (180 miles) and passes through three national parks: the Lake District National Park, the Yorkshire Dales National Park, and the North York Moors National Park to finish at Robin Hood's Bay on the North Sea coast. This A-Z Coast to Coast Adventure Atlas features 72 pages of continuous Ordnance Survey mapping providing complete coverage of the Coast to Coast Walk. This atlas includes a route planner providing the distances between places and the amenities available, featuring: Information Centres Hotels/B&Bs Youth Hostels Campsites (seasonal opening) Restaurants Public Houses Cafes (seasonal opening) Shops Petrol Stations --This text refers to an out of print or unavailable edition of this title.

Customer Reviews

Fantastic! A two to three week trek across England in one lightweight book. British OS 1:25000 maps are second to none, and by far the best available for the territory. If you are planning the coast to coast walk, this is a no brainer. One caveat is that the book is not waterproof, but it fits a standard waterproof map case, so buy that as well. BTW, all the formal variants of the C2C route are covered in this book as well. I am about to trek across the Sudtiroi in the Italian Alps, and have spent a small fortune on the fine Italian 1:25000 Tabacco maps, which I am about to cut up into smaller strips to suit my purposes -- in other words I got to spend more money and do more work. So, if you are hiking the C2C, don't hesitate -- buy this book.

I USED THESE FINE MAPS IN CONJUNCTION WITH THE GUIDE BOOK: COAST TO COAST PATH to follow my son and his wife's 191 mile trek from the Irish Sea to the North Sea. I was amazed at the thoroughness and detail included in both publications. They were indispensable in helping me keep track and know a bit of their experiences on their daily hikes from one B & B to another B & B.

Not sure what I would have done without this. It really helped me to plan ahead and recognize natural landmarks. It's a great aid to have when hiking in new territory.

I walked Wainwright's Coast To Coast Walk several years ago and still had the maps old Harvey maps. I wasn't sure I needed the AZs. I did. These are current, with greater detail, and a much better scale, all in format that folds and unfolds nicely. Plus good indexing and distance tables.

Detailed map which clearly shows the different routes (spring, summer and fall/winter) on the famous C2C route in Northern England. This is a small very light booklet with a shiny cover and paper maps inside that clearly show topography, elevation, place names, historical place names, ruins, and other items of interest. There are 79 pages of maps, closely following the established route. The maps are 1:25,000 scale, licensed from Ordnance Survey. I had originally planned to purchase the maps from Ordnance Survey for the regions that are traversed on the C2C, but these maps are quite large, there are a large number of them, and they offer information that is extraneous to the walk. I only wanted a map that covers the walk and the immediate environs - and this book delivers precisely that. I will be bringing this map book with me next month on the C2C, and will also be bringing Terry Marsh's Cicerone Guide to the Coast to Coast Walk. The two books, side by side, offer ample information as I prepare for this 200 mile walk.

We used this outstanding map on our 2013 Coast to Coast hike along with the Henry Stedman guidebook (indispensable!). Nothing else is really needed. The map is easy to use, covers the most common trail variations, and packs small. The Cicerone guide was useful as a reference tool (lots of interesting historical information about the sites along the route) but doesn't function well as a day-to-day guide to the trail.
